

TRAUMA-INFORMED SEL APPROACHES TO REOPENING SCHOOLS:
PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT SERIES

INTRO: COVID-19 and social unrest have changed our world. It is incumbent on educators to ensure student continuity and school improvement in the face of these changes. As we find ourselves on the verge of reopening schools, a unique opportunity exists to understand the far-reaching challenges before us and to develop practical, evidence-based, social emotional learning solutions to better serve students, parents, teachers, schools, and communities. Beginning August 7, 2020, Everywhere Education will launch a three-track, five-part professional development series to serve superintendents', teachers', and staff's needs through these challenging times.

- SUPERINTENDENT / LEADER TEAM TRACK: Strategic insights and guidance to navigate uncertainty, engage students, retain teachers, and improve school performance.
- TEACHER TRACK: Practical tools and specific guidance for managing classroom behavior and student reactions to school reopening and to possible family stressors.
- MENTAL HEALTH TRACK: Trauma-informed practices and techniques to provide student guidance and lend teacher support during this time of mental health crises.

WHAT: Three track series of online professional development services. Each track consists of five, one-hour sessions delivered by Dr. Greg Benner and the experts at Everywhere Education.

WHEN: The series launches at 11am Central, 12pm Eastern time on August 7, 2020 and concludes December 18, 2020. One live session will be delivered per track per month, along with applied exercises and coaching.

WHERE: Professional development services delivered in a hybrid fashion, with in-person presentation and simultaneous online streaming. In-person seats are limited due to social distancing. Video will also be captured for registrants' later viewing at their convenience. Let us develop a plan for your school to maximize the live viewing and recorded viewing experiences.

CONTACT HOURS AND CE UNITS: Everywhere Education is a provider of continuing education units and professional contact hours in most states.

PRICE: Cost is $1,500 for each professional development track, and covers registration for an entire school of up to sixty (60) registrants. Single seat registration is available at $149.

GROUP DISCOUNTS: Everywhere Education offers a 20% group discount at the district level. If the majority of schools in a given district signs up, each school will be provided a 20% discount and their price will be reduced to $1,200 per professional development track. Payment can be made through the schools or the district.

BUNDLED DISCOUNTS: Everywhere Education also offers a 20% bundled discount for any school that registers for all of the three professional development tracks. With the bundled discount, the total price for all three tracks is reduced from $4,500 to $3,600.

COMPARISON: See below for a comparison of Everywhere Education’s onsite, in-service professional development option (“In Service PD”) versus our three-track professional development series online program (“Hybrid PD”).
